

Module temperature on the computational mesh: 960 finite-volume cells, each drawn at its own extent and coloured by its own stored value.
One colour scale is shared by all six frames and spans the full range of the data shown -- nothing is clipped.

